B. READING COMPREHENSION (20p)

Read the following text:

London is one of the most fascinating capitals of the world. It is a very old city. It is the capital city of England and is in the south east, on the River Thames. The first bridge over the river was called London Bridge. You can't see London Bridge today – people pulled the bridge down. Most of the city, including the main historic buildings - St. Paul's Cathedral, Westminster Abbey, the Houses of the Parliament – is on the north side of the river. Although probably best known for its history and tourist attractions such as museums and art galleries, London is also famous for its shops, theatres and parks.

- Write if the sentences are T (True) or F (False):
